Produced by the City of West Hollywood and airing on cable stations throughout the country, the public affairs talk show Get Used To It addresses national and local issues of interest to the lesbian, gay, bisexual and transgender (LGBT) community as well as allies. Hosted by California Senator Sheila James Kuehl, the first openly gay or lesbian person to be elected to the California Legislature, the program also highlights individuals whose lives and work have left a lasting legacy in the LGBT community. Issues examined by the series cover such topics as the gay civil rights movement, domestic violence, gay marriage and hate crimes. Interviewees have included activist Jean O'Leary, a founder of the Lesbian Feminist Liberation group, and Phill Wilson, founder and Executive Director of the Black AIDS Institute. The UCLA Film & Television Archive holds over 100 installments of this groundbreaking series from the year 1995 to the present, which are available for onsite research viewing.
